

Dabrowski's Theory of Positive Disintegration

Sal Mendaglio, Editor

Table of Contents

Preface. The Book and Its Contributors	Sal Mendaglio
Part I. The Theory of Positive Disintegration
Chapter 1. Kazimierz Dabrowski: The Man	William Tillier
Chapter 2. Dabrowski's Theory of Positive Disintegration: A Personality Theory for the 21 st Century	Sal Mendaglio
Chapter 3. Discovering Dabrowski's Theory	Michael M. Piechowski
Chapter 4. Dabrowski on Authentic Education	Marlene Rankel
Chapter 5. Philosophical Aspects of Dabrowski's Theory of Positive Disintegration	William Tillier
Chapter 6. Creativity in Dabrowski and the Theory of Positive Disintegration	Dexter Amend
Chapter 7. Dabrowski's Views on Authentic Mental Health	Elizabeth Mika
Part II. TPD and Giftedness
Chapter 8. The Theory of Positive Disintegration in the Field of Gifted Education	Linda Kreger Silverman
Chapter 9. The Dabrowskian Lens: Implications for Understanding Gifted Individuals	Michael C. Pyryt
Chapter 10. Measuring Overexcitability: Replication across Five Countries	R. Frank Falk Buket Yakamaci-Guzel Alice (Hsin-Jen) Chang Raquel Pardo de Santayana Sanz Rosa Aurora Chavez-Eakle
Part III. TPD in Perspective
Chapter 11. Personality Disintegration and Reintegration in Mystical Lives	Laurence F. Nixon
Chapter 12. Emotion Management and Emotional Development: A Sociological Perspective	Nancy B. Miller
Chapter 13. The Theory of Positive Disintegration (TPD) and Other Approaches to Personality
Sal Mendaglio
Endnotes
References
Name Index
Topic Index	